Bomb squads sanitise roads for President's visit

- 5,485 Cops on Dasara duty
- Police Help Desks to open from Sept. 26 to Oct. 5

Mysuru, Sept. 24 (RK&BCT)- Two days ahead of President of India Droupadi Murmu's scheduled visit to inaugurate Dasara 2022 on the morning of Sept. 26, Police teams, bomb squads and drone teams began sanitising roads, bus shelters, culverts and major junctions from this morning.

City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta has formed multiple teams to secure the road from the Mysore Airport to Chamundi Hill and from Chamundi Hill to the Mysore Palace that will witness the VVIP movement. The route from the Airport to Chamundi Hill will be fully sanitised today and teams are adopting technology to fortify the President's cavalcade route. The 14-km stretch from the Airport to Chamundi Hill on Ooty Road has been divided among senior officers and junior staff for sanitisation, security maintenance and upkeep. Teams with drone cameras are also keeping an eye on security arrangements and they have been told that there must not be any lapse. The fool-proof security arrangements assume significance, as it will be the President's first visit to Karnataka and the first stop, will be Mysuru.

At Chamundi Hill too, the security blanket has already been thrown and there is stringent checking of all vehicles that are entering and returning from the Hill from its entry and exit points.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Hope is a powerful thing. It inspires us to do the impossible and helps us carry on during difficult times. It is the one thing that can help us get through the darkest of times. And it can come in many different shapes and forms. It may be through our favourite music, or a good book, or even by listening to our favourite thought leaders.

Consider what Michelle Obama has said: You may not always have a comfortable life and you will not-always be able to solve all of the world's problems at once but don't ever underestimate the importance you can have because history has shown us that courage can be contagious and hope can take on a life of its own.

Hope after all is what tells us that better things await us. Our human compassion binds us one to the other — not in pity or patronisingly, but as human beings who have learnt how to turn our common suffering into hope for the future. The very least you can do in your life is figure out what you hope for. And the most you can do is live inside that hope. Not admire it from a distance but live right in it. Hold on to the hope, the belief, the conviction that there is a better life and a better world. This soulful quote by Emily Dickenson sums it up aptly, "Hope is the thing with feathers, That perches in the soul, And sings the tune without the words, And never stops at all."

Over 2,000 jigsaw tattoos!

California: A fan of extreme body modification has had puzzle pieces tattooed all over his body, to the extent where he resembles a walking, talking jigsaw. The Enigma, real name Paul Lawrence, is an artist, actor, and sideshow performer with a passion for body ink, and his interest has even seen him break records.

On April 13th 2011, it was confirmed the US-based performer had set the official record for the most jigsaw-puzzle pieces tattoos, with officials needing three hours to count his 2,123 tats. Officials determined only tattoos with clearly inked borders would be included in the count, ignoring any faded ones.

Most of his puzzle pieces have been inked in blue ink, while the whites of his eyeballs have been coloured in pitch black. On top of his unique display of tattoos, he has undergone various body modifications, including five flesh tunnels around his mouth and two implants in his head shaped like horns. Even his ears have been modified to resemble pieces of a jigsaw, in keeping with the rest of his dramatic look.

Hilarious road safety advisory

Manali: The Kullu Police has also come up with a witty warning signboard to educate the masses on road safety.

A video of the warning was shared on Instagram showed the advisory against drinking and driving. The warning read, "Don't drive drunk. Jail in Manali is extremely cold." The signboard also had a smoking advisory. "Cigarette burns the lungs," it said.

A user called the signboard "hilarious," another wrote, "Very reasonable" and "summer is the best time to go to jail in Manali."

Meanwhile, recently Delhi Traffic Police Department shared a video of a young man performing dangerous stunt on motorcycle to urge people to stay safe and not drive too fast.

Internet users appreciated the "fresh mode of campaign" and lauded the Traffic Police for delivering a powerful message.

VOICE OF THE READER

Road repairs and traffic chaos

Sir,

With Dasara just two days away to be inaugurated by the First Citizen of India, the MCC and other Government authorities have suddenly been shaken and awakened from their slumber to cover the potholes by paint of tar and smoothen the rough roads to showcase the internationally famous Dasara of Mysuru.

But have the authorities thought of the inconvenience and traffic chaos caused to people by closure of important roads without any alternative routes?

Come Dasara, every year it becomes a bane for the Mysureans because of unplanned and senseless works undertaken on the eve of Dasara. Only God has to help us mortals.

PREVENTING HEART FAILURE
Prevention of heart failure is prevention and good treatment of heart disease. High blood pressure and diabetes should be kept under reasonable control. Good diet, exercise regularly, control cholesterol and psychological stress to prevent heart attack, which is the leading cause of heart failure,correction of Anemia, Vitamin deficiencies and thyroid disorders. Stop smoking and alcohol consumption to prevent heart disease. Valvular heart disease should be treated more appropriately to avoid heart failure. Once a heart attack occurs – time is a muscle and within the golden hour, getting to an excellent cardiac centre, immediate angioplasty or, if not available, thrombolysis at the earliest to save more heart muscle and prevent future heart failure. Once heart failure occurs, there are many ways to treat it. First and foremost, it is better to follow up at a heart failure clinic. Heart failure clinics are specialised centres for identifying the cause, treatment, follow-up and progress of patients. They are managed by heart failure specialists and nurses who are round-the-clock available for queries, continuous monitoring and suggestions to prevent repeated hospitalisations.

Flood of thoughts

Flood of blames... but they're all the same

Bengaluru flooded again, and no one was surprised. But the politicians acted like they were! That's because floods, while a tragedy for the people, for politicians it was an opportunity to attack each other.

"For the first time in Bengaluru's history, people have fled their homes on boats," declared Congress leader and former CM Siddharamaiah. Really, for the first time?

Did the former CM forget the 2017 Bengaluru flood, which killed 16 people, including an 18-year-old girl when he was the CM? Guess 'selective memory loss' is a disease that plagues all politicians.

Later, his party State President D.K. Shivakumar blamed the encroachment of Government land for the floods and asked, "What stopped the ruling BJP from clearing the encroachments"?

We have to ask, what stopped Congress Party from clearing the encroachments when they were ruling our State for five years until just two years ago? Even now, what solution or action plan has any party come up with to make sure it doesn't happen next year?

Also, if Congress rightly feels encroachments cause flooding, then why not declare that all structures built on lakes and Raja Kaluves (drains) will be demolished? Make this a promise in your election manifesto.

The Congress organised a protest against the failure of the BJP Government to handle floods. Later the BJP CM said, "The mistakes committed before in the name of development should not be repeated. For this, it is necessary to probe… which political forces ensured encroachment of lakes; which officers executed the task." After this statement, the Opposition Congress became silent and went back to stitching up India — Bharat Jodo Yatra.

The Congress should have a Bangalore Bachao Andolan instead. After all, the Karnataka State Congress President and the CM hopeful D.K. Shivakumar knows a lot about urban planning. He was the Urban Development Minister when the IT boom thundered across Bengaluru.

While all political parties are attacking each other over flood management, it has been 16 years since the 'The Captain Raja Rao Committee report on road construction and management of primary, secondary and tertiary drains - 2006' was presented. Not one political party has bothered implementing it during their rule, despite the High Court's direction to implement the recommendations!

Our politicians' intention to improve Bengaluru is as murky as the city's filthy flood water. Only serious protests will bring change.

Lakes and drains helps us live with rains

Drain and Lake Systems are crucial in urban development. The simple example of Spice Garden Layout in Bengaluru gives one an idea of its importance.

The encroachment of the Raja Kaluves of the Bellandur Canal caused flooding in this layout. If only the 6.5-kilometre Raja Kaluve had not been encroached, the rainwater would have drained into the canal, which would carry it from Bellandur to Varthur Lake and then exit into the Dakshina Pinakini River. There would have been no floods at all, but alas.

Bengaluru was once called 'The land of a 1,000 lakes'. Today it is number two on a United Nations list of cities that will run out of drinking water in the next 15 years! So it needs to find ways to harvest and save water — time to look at our past and learn.

Bengaluru has no perennial river close by, so lakes became the mainstay for Bengaluru's survival. But since it had altitude, Bengaluru is 3,000 feet above sea level, both Kempegowda, the Founder of Bengaluru and later Lieutenant-General Richard Hieram Sankey (after whom Sankey Tank is named), developed a system — Cascading of Lakes.

This was a natural rainwater harvesting system wherein the run-off water (rainfall) was collected first in the lakes at the higher level. Once these filled up, they flowed to the lakes on the next level via 30-ft wide inlets called Raja Kaluves which then flowed into the four natural drainage valleys of Bengaluru — Challaghatta, Koramangala, Hebbal and Vrishabhavati.

The system was so efficient that when the Captain of the British East India Company came to Bengaluru, he described it as the 'Land of a thousand lakes.'

Even today, in the Revenue Survey maps of Bengaluru, there are 937 lakes listed. But the shocking fact is that on the ground, there are only 17 'live' lakes left!

Our Government does not understand the importance of lakes in making a city liveable. That is why the Government irresponsibly constructed a hockey stadium on Akkithimmanahalli Lake, converted Dharmabudhi Lake into Kempegowda Bus Stand, turned Sampangi Lake into Kanteerava Sports Complex and built a National Games Village on Koramangala Lake! When the Government itself sees lakes as potential real estate…our cities will flood.

Mysuru beware! don't let them take your Lake

As flooding becomes an annual affair in Bengaluru, Mysureans better prepare their activist boots, or else we too will be in the 'same boat' as Bengalureans.

As the 10-lane expressway and airport gain traction, we will see construction and corruption. When big builders appear, lakes disappear. They already are.

In 2019, Lake Conservation expert U.N. Ravikumar of Mysuru reported that our city had 106 lakes. Out of this, 37 lakes had disappeared and 69 are alive. But he added that 42 lakes in Mysuru taluk are on the verge of depletion, out of which 22 fall under Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) limits. Yet there is no clear action plan to save them.

For long now, small lakes in Mysuru have been quietly filled with construction debris. Once filled and levelled, the land-grabbers create fake papers showing ancestry and ownership, after which it is sent for approval! And it gets approved. No surprise there.

In Mysuru, many grand lakes have been killed by an indifferent administration. Jeevanna-rayana Katte, which is now called J.K. Grounds, was a small lake. It went dry as buildings came around it, and the feeder channels were blocked. Then there is Doddakere Maidan in front of the Palace; it suffered the same fate.

Subba-rayana Kere in front of Shantala Theatre also used to be a lake; now it's dry too. Even the channels to Kukkarahalli Lake are covered up, and freshwater is not coming through. Instead, sewage water does.

Then there are other lakes in the city that have been slowly encroached upon, like Lingambudhi Lake near Vivekananda Nagar, Devanur Kere in N.R. Mohalla and lakes on Nanjangud Road. Even Kukkarahalli Lake has been encroached as the University of Mysore has built various structures on the banks.

Numerous water bodies on the outskirts of Mysuru going towards Hunsur have been covered, and now Choultries sit pretty on them.

Even the Yelethota that leads to Nanjangud Road was a swamp that sucked up water; it is now being sold to builders. So where is the rainwater supposed to go? Obviously, into our homes.

Karnataka is facing severe leadership issues. It would be too much to ask for 'honest leadership', but it's fair to expect an administration with a plan. But then, when half the State's Cabinet and almost 60 percent of our cities' Corporation members are into real estate, urban planning will come only after their personal wealth planning.

At this rate, along with raincoats, umbrellas, candles and UPS, we better keep life jackets and maybe even buy a tiny coracle for when it floods. But knowing our greedy lawmakers, they may introduce water tax like road tax for the coracle; a rowing fee and even make us pay to get a rowing license. God help us.

Elaborate security measures

The City Police machinery is geared up to ensure tight security for the President's visit and also during the Dasara festival. Addressing a press conference at a private hotel, the Police Commissioner, accompanied by DCP (Crime and Traffic) M.S. Geetha Prasanna said that apart from 1,255 Police personnel from Mysuru city, an additional 3,580 personnel from other districts have arrived in Mysuru for Dasara duty along with over 650 Home Guards.

"In all, 5,485 personnel will provide security for Dasara. The full-fledged Mobile Command Centre vehicle will work round-the-clock this Dasara to respond to any emergencies. The Command Centre helps surveillance and the vehicle is equivalent to a thousand eyes," he said.

Command Centre

"The Command Centre has all the features of a Police Control Room and will be on the move to capture all the action live at all the places where it is stationed. The Centre has 19 cameras including four around the mobile unit, four jacket cameras and a drone camera. In addition, body-worn cameras will be deployed on Policemen all along the procession route. Elevated platforms will be set up at all the Dasara programme venues and Policemen will stand over them and record the proceedings," Dr. Chandragupta added.

All CCTV cameras and lights installed inside and outside the Mysore Palace, on Jumboo Savari routes, Torchlight Parade Grounds, Chamundi Hill, prominent city roads, circles and junctions are functioning at optimum level and as an additional security measure, Door Frame Metal Detectors have been installed at venues at Chamundi Hill, Dasara Exhibition Grounds, Wrestling Arena and venues of Food Mela, Yuva Sambhrama, Yuva Dasara, Dasara Sports and Dasara Cultural Programmes.

Dog squads on alert mode

Dog Squad is being pressed into service and the Police have been instructed to keep a hawk-eye vigil on the entry and exit points of the city. "We are ensuring that CCTV cameras installed in hotels, lodges, service apartments, Paying Guest (PG) accommodations, tourist spots and in crowded places such as Bus Stands, Railway Station, theatres, commercial establishments and markets are in working condition and have a recording facility," he said.

Check-posts have been established on all Highways connecting Mysuru and 24 hours vigil will be kept on all vehicles entering and exiting Mysuru. Rowdies and anti-social elements have been warned and instructions have been given to them to stay away from criminal activities.

VIP information

The Police are also collecting information about the arrival of Dasara guests, VIPs, VVIPs, noted artists and others for Dasara and foreign students staying in city are being monitored.

"We are also preparing to provide security to the Governor, Chief Minister, Union Ministers, High Court and Supreme Court Judges on their arrival to city and also for their smooth movement on city roads," Dr. Chandragupta said.

"We have written to the District Health Officer (DHO) to keep emergency services, personnel, doctors and paramedical staff to meet any emergencies," he added. Police personnel drawn from other districts have been given instructions about their duties and responsibilities, the Commissioner said.

Eight Police Help Desks from 9 am to 10 pm

Eight Police Help Desks will be established to help visitors in providing information about Dasara from Sept. 26 to Oct. 5. The Help Desks will function from 9 am to 10 pm.

The Help Desks will provide information about Dasara programmes, one-way information and parking facilities available. Tourist-friendly brochures will be distributed and they will contain detailed information about Dasara, DOs and DON'Ts.

The eight Police Help Desks will be set up at Jagjivan Ram Circle or City Railway Station Circle (maintained by Mandi Police Station), Palace Varaha Gate and K.R. Circle (maintained by Devaraja Police Station), St. Philomena's Church, Sub-Urban Bus Stand, Gandhi Square (maintained by Lashkar Police Station) and Mysuru Zoo and Dasara Exhibition Grounds main gate (maintained by Nazarbad Police Station).

Uncrowned Queen of Gardening

Gardening is not my whole life, but it makes my life whole — this saying truly defines Shamala Prasanna, a resident of Lakshmipuram, Mysuru, who owns a stunning garden with a motley variety of thousand-plus blooming plants. She has won the first prize for Ornamental Garden (in large garden category) 24 times consecutively at the Dasara Garden Show contest organised by Horticulture Department.

'I would've won again but in the 25th year, the competition didn't happen,' she chuckles.

'I like to call myself a gardener and not just an owner of a garden because except watering the plants, everything else is done by me,' the uncrowned queen of gardening corrects me humbly.

Shamala takes me around her exquisite garden elucidating the themes it displays. Dasara procession complete with terracotta musicians and elephants marks the centrestage this year; Forest theme displays wild animals and trees; Christmas has a Christmas tree with tiny bells, a swing, cute little fairies, and Santa; Peru proudly exhibits artistic curios obtained from this South American country; China Town adds the Chinese flavour with Bonsais and Great Wall of China; Sea life buzzes with aquatic animals and plants; Indian village depicts village life and temples made of thermocol, are some of the themes forming the pride spots in the garden.

To break the monotony, the themes are periodically shifted from one spot to another. For some of the seasonal themes like Dasara and Christmas, after the festivities are over, the adornments are packed neatly in bubble wraps and kept away carefully, only to be brought back after a year when it is festival time again.

The colourful accessories which add glitter to the garden have been accumulated over a period of time. 'Wherever I travel, my eyes look only for garden accessories,' beams the lady with the green fingers.

Not just the innovative themes, the ornamental garden is aesthetically decorated proudly exhibiting the creativity of its creator. Shade-loving plants in one corner, cacti and succulents in another, bright colourful Marigold, Celosia, Chrysanthemums, Zinea and other seasonal flowers outside the front door of the house, echo the beauty and diversity of the garden.

'My plants are like my babies especially the Bonsais,' Shamala says, her eyes twinkling. 'Some of them are 35 - 40 years old, they've grown along with me.'

It was 42 years ago when Shamala, a native of Badravathi (Shivamogga), made this house her home and transformed the bare land with spills of oil, into a blossoming garden which now befits a place of tourist interest.

Like everything else in life, all good things come out of hard work. Shamala spends 3-4 hours every day on the garden related work — pruning, cutting, putting fertilizer, checking for weeds etc. On the days when it is the turn of Bonsais, she spends the entire day in the garden taking only a short lunch break. 'Gardening is meditative for me, I can never get tired of tending to my plants,' tells this nature-lover whose life revolves around plants. 'When I travel, I miss my plants the most,' Shamala says, her face mirroring her words.

The beginning, I owe it to my parents who loved gardening and had a beautiful kitchen garden in their backyard. I have studied Botany in my graduation, but my passion has little to do with my academic credentials. Gardening became a passion when I happened to meet Maya Seetharam who introduced me to Bonsai art. I bought a few plants from her, attended a Bonsai workshop she was conducting and took off.

Later the duo along with a few others formed a Bonsai Club which now has around 45 members.

Many might think that it takes a large amount of money to create and maintain a garden. 'That's not true. I don't buy new plants; I multiply them and exchange with friends. I also make my own manure so there are always more economical options,' the gardening enthusiast clarifies.

For those who are fond of plants but neither have large spaces nor the time to maintain a garden, start with succulents and cacti which are low on maintenance and add to the beauty of the garden. 'These days because of internet, it's easier to pursue gardening or any other hobby. There is plenty of information available on internet, but one must be careful about what to follow and what to ignore,' she advises.

Shamala is constantly updating her skills and learning and unlearning. She regularly attends workshops, international conferences to learn new techniques and has also displayed her plants at Ganapathy Sachchidananda Ashram, Mysuru.

Besides gardening, music and cooking are Shamala's other passions. Trained in Karnatak and devotional music by the legendary S.K. Vasumathi, under her belt are a YouTube channel and six music albums of devotional and light music.

Crowds cheer as Dasara elephants march on illuminated streets

Many recall fond memories of 2019 Jumboo Savari; click selfies along route

Mysuru, Sept. 24 (SBD&BCT)- For the first time in 2022 Dasara, the elephant team walked majestically under the dazzling lights from the Mysore Palace to Bannimantap last evening.

The elephant team started its journey from the Mysore Palace on the Jumboo Savari route at 5.40 pm and by the time it reached the Government Ayurveda College Circle, the lights were fully switched on. The lights were lit from 7 pm to 8.30 pm so that the elephant march amidst lights passes off smoothly.

The Wooden Howdah was mounted on Gopalaswamy and it performed the feat with ease. The elephants showed immense patience and their grooming was on full display as they walked under illuminated roads, amidst people, traffic and the usual sounds. The idea is to make the elephants feel at home despite the dazzling lights all the way from the Palace to Bannimantap Grounds.

On its part, Gopalaswamy, accompanied by two kumki elephants, performed the task well and did not even stop for a moment even when it passed through the overarching bright lights. He has time and again proved that he can be a worthy successor to Abhimanyu, the present Golden Howdah-carrying elephant, in case the need arises.

Following Gopalaswamy were the other 12 elephants including Abhimanyu and all of them displayed their prowess majestically and the team returned to the Palace at 8.30 pm.

Hundreds of people who were aware that the elephant team would walk under the lights gathered on both sides of the streets, cheering the jumbo team. They saw the elephants slowly walking in close proximity as if they were mesmerised by the dazzle. Many recalled the fond memories of Jumboo Savari in 2019 and clicked photos and selfies to be shared with friends and family.

As the road dividers on Sayyaji Rao Road were removed, it was a festive moment to see the jumbos march on the wide road. Teams from Forest Department, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) and Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) were present all along the route ensuring that nothing went wrong.

A few places where the overhead lighting was too close to the height of the elephant carrying the Wooden Ambari (22 ft from the ground) were identified and the contractors were asked to raise the height for safety purpose.

"The rehearsals will continue every day from now to make the elephants more familiar with the lights and the crowds surrounding them. We are in the process of testing the lights on various streets as we are completing the work in phases. Once the lights are tested, they are switched off," said S. Nagesh, Superintending Engineer, CESC, who is also the Illumination Sub-Committee Working President.

Yeshwanth Kumar, Consultant Hepato Biliary & Liver Transplant Surgeon, Dr. Aman Naik, Medical Superintendent and boy's father Kantharaj look on.

Mysuru, Sept. 24- A 14-year-old boy got a new lease of life after he underwent a complex and rare for age Whipple's Procedure (Pancreaticoduodenectomy) performed by the Gastrointestinal Surgeons of Apollo BGS Hospitals, Mysuru.

The boy had a history of pain in his abdomen for the last 4 years that recently got severe leading to the child unable to tolerate the pain and consume oral diet.

An Endoscopic Ultrasound performed showed Complex Cystic lesion of size 7x6 cms in the head of the pancreas. A further workup with detailed CT scan showed compression of the main vein (Portal Vein) connecting to the liver causing multiple collaterals while the Cyst fluid analysis suggested a doubtful tumorous lesion.

A Multidisciplinary Team comprising GI Surgeons, Gastroenterologists and Radiologists chalked out a meticulous surgical approach to treat the lesion after obtaining the family consent.

Explaining about the rare procedure during a press meet at Pathrakarthara Bhavan in city recently, Dr. S. Nairuthya, Consultant Chief Gastrointestinal Surgeon, said "The surgery went on for nearly 6 hours due to its complicated anatomy. Though we had planned for venous resection, we were able to painstakingly dissect off the tumour from the Superior Mesenteric Vein and perform a Whipple's Procedure."

Dr. V. Yeshwanth Kumar, Consultant Hepato Biliary & Liver Transplant Surgeon said, "The surgery was quite challenging but we could perform it successfully with a smooth post operative recovery. The child was discharged within a week. He is doing well on follow up and is now able to consume normal diet."

N.G. Bharateesha Reddy, Vice-President & Unit Head, Apollo BGS Hospitals, said "This is the first time in Mysuru and one of the youngest in State, to have undergone such a complex surgery. Our Team of Gastrointestinal Surgeons are highly skilled and experienced in performing complex Vascular resections, hepatobiliary and Transplant surgeries which is rarely seen in this region and patients can get treated for advanced diseases at our hospital, saving their precious time towards the treatment and recovery."

WORD OF THE DAY

Verdigris

Pronunciation: VER-duh-greess.
Meaning: Verdigris is a green or bluish deposit, usually of copper carbonates, that forms on copper, brass, or bronze surfaces.
Origin: "Green of Greece"—that is the literal translation of vert de Grece, the Anglo-French phrase from which we get the modern word verdigris. A coating of verdigris forms naturally on copper and copper alloys such as brass and bronze when those metals are exposed to air. (It can also be produced artificially.) Like cinnabar, fuchsia, and amaranth before it, however, verdigris is also seeing increased use as a colour name that can be applied to anything suggestive of its particular hue. For more colourful history you might enjoy this article before testing your knowledge with a quiz.
Example: "There's a standard shower room, but also—drum roll—an outside bath, which is private thanks to a wooden fence, so you can concentrate on the canopy of tree branches shimmering and rustling overhead. This tub is made of copper, all dappled with verdigris and it rumbles loudly as it slowly fills up." — Gaby Soutar

THE ODD WORD

Vaticiny

A prophecy.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Wear your heart on your sleeve

Meaning: You use the phrase 'Wear your heart on your sleeve' to indicate that someone is displaying emotion openly.
Origin: The term 'Wear your heart on your sleeve' derives from a middle age custom in which jousting knights wore the colours of the ladies they were supporting on their sleeves. The expression is first recorded in Shakespeare's Othello in 1604 as Iago attempts to appear faithful: It is sure as you are Roderigo, were I the Moor, I would not be Iago: In following him, I follow but myself; heaven is my judge, not I for love and duty, But seeming so, for my peculiar end: For when my outward action doth demonstrate the native act and figure of my heart In compliment extern, 'tis not long after But I will wear my heart upon my sleeve for daws to peck at: I am not what I am.
Example: "I can tell Jenny is upset; she wears her heart on her sleeve."
